Definition of Trail Ratings: A two-part rating system indicates to Volkssporters an estimation of the difficulty of a trail. The first part uses a number to refer to difficulty of the incline, while the second part uses a letter to refer to the nature of the terrain.

Part 1 – Incline: 1 – very little hill or stair climbing; 2 – some Moderate hill or stair climbing; 3 – some significant hill or stair climbing; 4 – a good deal of significant hill or stair climbing; 5 – many steep hills or high-altitude trails.

Part 2 – Terrain: A – almost entirely on pavement, probably Suitable for stroller; B – a significant part of the walk takes place on well-groomed trails with very little more difficult terrain; C – A significant part of the walk takes place on somewhat difficult terrain (rocky or rooted paths); D – a significant part of the walk takes place on very difficult terrain; E – the majority of the walk takes place on very difficult terrain.
